SLEEP WELL

28.10.2006

Just came to my attention that there is research of sleep related genes, the usual stuff of protein kinases, dopaminergic receptor, and serotonin transporter. Also this research community seem to have the common difficulty of the complex disease gene mappers - to understand a phenomenon (not a trait) as systemic function, an intrinsic property of a multi-cellular and multiwired brain, yea, yea.

Addendum

More strange phenotypes orgasm frequency, pain, human memory performance.
