-moblog- Last week I asked an author for some additional information that was not available in his online supplement. He responded immediately, I saw the email arriving in Thunderbird, but when I wanted to read it a couple of hours later I couldn't find it - neither in the inbox, spam nor trash folder. Bugtraq has identical user reports - which makes me believe that also Activesync sometimes drops items from the todo list, mainly the important ones. Computer are only a higher ordering system for managing the chaos but there is no reason to believe in impeccability. Yea, yea.
