

GENETICS

CELL PODCAST WITH AN INTERESTING FACT

5.01.2007

Cell has a first podcast online. It features interviews with two of this year's Nobel Laureates, Dr. Craig Mello and Dr. Roger Kornberg, as well as a talk to Dr. Paul Nurse about current funding prospects in the US ("dont give up"). It is quite easy to hear that on my morning ride – and liked very much Craig Mello saying (please wind forward to 6:19) “the entire genome is probably described in some level” which is quite different to the prevailing junk theory. Yea, yea.

CC-BY-NC Science Surf accessed 20.12.2025 