NO DAY WITHOUT A LINE

25.04.2007

seems to be the motto of many bloggers although it goes probably back to Pliny. "Kein Tag ohne Präparat" (no day without taxidermy) was also the motto of Rudolf Virchow that I found last week in the Medizinhistorische Museum at Charité Berlin. More on this fascinating collection can be found at taz. No day without DNA is being the modern translation...
