

JOKE

IN CONSIDERATION OF

20.09.2007

In case you have never read at full consciousness the copyright statements that some journals want to you to sign, here is one:

In consideration of the expenses of editing and publishing and the professional benefits relating to publication of my article or other written work, as specified above, I assign exclusively to the XXXX Society all right, title, and interest to my article or other written work, as specified above, and any

In consideration of the cumbersome training of a MD/PhD student I want 50% of their future salary ;-) yea, yea.
