IN CONSIDERATION OF

20.09.2007

In case you have never read at full consciousness the copyright statements that some journals want to you to sign, here is one:

In consideration of the expenses of editing and publishing and the professional benefits relating to publication of my article or other written work, as specified above, I assign exclusively to the XXXX Society all right, title, and interest to my article or other written work, as specified above, and any ....

In consideration of the cumbersome training of a MD/PhD student I want 50% of their future salary ;-) yea, yea.
