ENDOCRINE DISRUPTORS

10.12.2007

This is a topic occasionally popping up (frequently after some spectacular press article) but there doesn't seem so much systematic research. Only recently I came across an article on plastic additives and surfactants (alkylphenols) that can suppress Th1 development - so is plastic the "Western life style factor"? The only other study that I have heard before is about benzophenone, octylphenol, and tributyltin chloride (TBT).
