

GENETICS

CHANGE YOUR GENES

Yahoo news has the story (and Spiegel a video) of an Australian girl who spontaneously switched blood groups and adopted her donor's immune system following a liver transplant in the first known case of its type, doctors treating her said Thursday.

Unfortunately I cannot access here the NEJM (it is too expensive) and read what her doctors say ... Maybe in the future transplants will always be accompanied by a bone marrow injection?
