BORN TO RUN

18.09.2009

There was a news item in the Jan issue of NGR

Born to run? A DNA test to identify future sports stars. The latest personal DNA test to hit the US market, from Atlas Sports Genetics in Colorado, promises to determine if a child would be best at speed and power sports such as football or sprinting, or endurance sports such as running

What a nonsense! It would be even deleterious if anybody would be influenced by any genetic test to decide on physical fitness.
