

ALLERGY, PHILOSOPHY

REAL COLLABORATIONS

14.06.2022

I have taken part in so many collaborations – on institute level, on a national and on EU level. But usually these collaborations are mainly there on getting monies not in getting any real progress.

So I am very much intrigued by a project in a completely different area – sound localization in the brain – that is simply based on common interest. It includes a great description including a video, Python notebook, discussion forum and is open to everybody who wants to contribute. I wish this would have been possible also in allergy research (where not even published data of the consortium are available for reanalysis).

<https://twitter.com/neuralreckoning/status/1536297590618193921>

CC-BY-NC Science Surf accessed 11.01.2026 