STATISTICAL PARROT

31.05.2023

Harald Lesch talks about Al language models as "statistical parrots". Even more worrisome are the hallucinations

"Language models are trained to predict the next word," said Yilun Du, a researcher at MIT who was previously a research fellow at OpenAI, and one of the paper's authors. "They are not trained to tell people they don't know what they're doing."
